

Home Care Community Forum

Education and training for home care paraprofessionals is vital to the success of all home care agencies. Home Care Community Forum has been providing that education and training since 2003 at no cost to participants.

Help support this innovative program

The Home Care Community Forum is the only program of its kind offering free education to paraprofessionals. Donations and sponsorships are essential to cover program costs that ensure that CHC can continue to offer these important training programs at no charge to participants.

Make your contributions now

If you would like to support this essential education for home care workers with your tax-deductible contribution to CHC Forums, please complete the form below and submit it with your donation. Or, you can donate online at www.chcforum.org/forum/donate.shtml.
